

ESA Flying High on Eagles Wings President's Message

Hello all, well it is official the year is over for me as President. Boy it seems like it went so quickly. I want to thank all of you for a wonderful year as your President. I especially want to thank my sisters of Zeta Rho for a Great Convention. It was just perfect, it was so good to see so many of you and for those of you who missed it you missed a good one. Great food and lots of fun, I know this coming year will be filled with a lot of fun times with Kathy Ellingson as our new President.

Well on to the Denver Dream Home we will need some volunteers for the kickoff sellathon on June 15 from 6am to 10am. Please contact me if you can come and help out with this, we need six people to answer phones. I am also including the Denver Dream Home Open House Schedule, since it did not get all around the room at convention. Please let me know when you and your chapter can volunteer, it is a good time to visit and meet a lot of nice people and help St. Jude in the process.

Ok now for the other hat, I am now the Disaster Fund Chair and am looking forward to lots and lots of checks to come to me for our fund. As you know in the last few years we have had quite a few who have needed help from this fund, and we need to take care of our own. These are our sisters and if they are in need, I feel like we need to help them out, as I know all of you do also. So don't forget about giving to the Disaster Fund.

Again thanks for a Great Year, I am so proud to have been your Colorado State President, and now a Lamp Lighter. Yea!!!

Love in ESA

✚ To inspire is to let another feel the presence of something greater than himself or herself. This presence effortlessly sparks, kindles, animates and fuels the possibility with a sense of limitlessness. It also gives grounding to the vision. The kind of grounding that a possibility requires to turn into an opportunity.

OFFICER'S REPORTS

Vice President/Membership – Kathy Garrison

My final report for the year was presented at convention. Total members as of April 30, 2015 – 490. Total Demits 83; 17 college chapter, 66 Members – 10 due to death; Total reinstatements – 6; Total pledges – 29; Total members as of April 30, 2016 – 447. I received the following convention bids: 2017 – “ESA-Best of the West” May 19, 20, 21, 2017 Allenspark Colorado hosted by the Lamplighters; 2018 Hosted by Kappa Iota Glenwood Springs, CO and 2019 Hosted by Kappa Zeta. I want to thank those who stepped up to host a convention. This is our annual get together where we enjoy seeing those across the state and PARTY! Thank you for a successful year.

Easter Seals Coordinator – Mary Guida

This was a profitable year. Most half of the chapters sent in their reports. And with that, it was a good year. I want to point out there were a few exceptional chapters that really out done themselves with hours and monies, they were Zeta Tau #2064, Colorado Springs; Zeta Rho #1774 Aurora; and Epsilon Epsilon #1896 Denver. I want to mention those chapters that did send in their reports that were also recognized at convention were as follows: Alpha Gamma #174; Alpha Phi #3027, Alpha Omicron #770; Beta Alpha #5416; Chi Kappa #5129; Gamma Chi #3668; Gamma Omega #4306; Kappa Iota #5442; Kappa Zeta #5571; Zeta Chi #3878 and Theta Eta #280. The raffle at the convention was very successful and the calendar sales this year was great. The Easter Seals mailings were done by some of the ladies in Zeta Rho and Kappa Iota. The new year is starting and I am hoping each and every chapter in the state of Colorado continue their contributions to Easter Seals it is very well appreciated whatever you can do. As my year ends, thank you for giving me this opportunity being your state coordinator for Easter Seals. Have a great year 2016-2017.

St. Jude Coordinator – Pam McGee

Convention was wonderful as I shared with many of you Colorado has done a fantastic job of supporting St. Jude and the kids. It appears that we will meet and possibly surpass the 2 million dollar mark this year. A lot of time and miles was spent on that amount, plus socializing with each other. The state chairman is now responsible to sending out certificates that headquarters use to send out. They will be coming by email to current presidents or chairman of events. At convention we had a drawing for the Summer Fun Bag. Kerry Date, Gamma Chi, was the winner. The three drawings this year brought in $450, with $200 going to Kathy for IC. Thank you for the support you gave me this year as your coordinator and I have enjoyed working with Chloe. She will do an excellent job next year.

Senior Past President / Awards Chair – Joan Snyder

There were 111 awards given out this year at our state convention. How cool is that!! It was such an honor to have been the awards chair this year, I had the privilege of honoring some pretty awesome ladies and chapters. We had two chapters celebrating 75 years of service in

ESA, Alpha Delta, Pueblo and Alpha Gamma, Denver. What a joy to have Bernice Elich, Pueblo and Betty Jean Marshall, Alpha Gamma celebrating 65 years of service and Betty Turetzky being able to attend on Sunday morning with 75 years of service. These ladies have inspired so many of us over the years and they are truly what ESA is all about. There is a complete listing of all the awards handed out in this issue as well as on the Colorado website. Please take time to thank all the chapters and members who have given so much of their time to make ESA such a success.

Golden Lamp – Laura Wilson / Marlene Hewitt

Thank you for sending in your news and articles as we enjoy hearing from all. Comments may be emailed to Marlene Hewitt at marlenehewitt6490@comcast.net or Laura Wilson at laurawilson318@yahoo.com.

CHAPTER/COUNCIL REPORTS

Colorado State Council President 2016-2017 Acceptance Speech Submitted by Kathy Ellingson

I would like to start my time with you tonight by telling some stories. Everybody loves a good story, right? So, we had a sign in my house when my kids were growing up that said "Around here, normal is just a setting on the dryer." Well, I was raised in a military family, so our "normal" was a little different as well. With my Dad's career in the Army, it was normal for us to travel and live in different parts of the world. I attended 3 schools in the first grade alone. It was normal for us to stop our vehicles on base and stand beside them at 5 every evening while taps played over the loudspeakers. At mealtimes, it was normal for me to learn to use chopsticks and speak Japanese from Okinawan girls while they learned English from me and the girls in my Mom's Girls Scout Troop. It was normal to have all but my immediately family live on the other side of the world, and to have close friends that I considered 'family'-something I still consider normal to this day. When we were stateside, it was normal for us to invade small town Michigan and harass our family for several week stretches. It wasn't until I got older, and moved out on my own into the world that I realized that my normal wasn't actually that normal. Webster's defines perspective as " a particular attitude toward, or way of regarding something; a point of view. So let's look back at my "normal" childhood with some perspective. At the time, I didn't always appreciate the opportunities that our life was giving me, because my perspective was narrow - I was a kid, just trying to be a kid. As I look back on my childhood now, with the years of my own experiences between then and now, I can see what a gift I was given. My perspective has shifted. My childhood, and the experiences I had then, shifted my point of view as I built my life. How many of you here could say the same? For example, now, there is not a time when Taps is played that I don't get a big knot in the back of my throat. Every time I see a pair of chopsticks it takes me back to the opportunities I had as a child. I feel like I am doubly blessed now because I have relatives living close by that I am able to rely on. I get together with my cousins now on a yearly basis-we talk and laugh about childhood memories that though different, have the same common threads that I am so thankful that I have taken the time to find. I have my close friends here tonight that are also my family too. I can't imagine my life without them and I hope they can't imagine their life without me. Part 2 of my stories tonight <this is the good stuff, this is where you ladies come in> brings me to my ESA journey. It has been 16 years since my friend Pam and I spent a lot of time together working on parent teacher projects for school. She knew what was ahead for me. Pam suggested I join ESA because my kids were heading into middle school. She politely told me "Kathy, your kids are growing up, they are not going to want you in middle school, you need to get a life." Everyone has a Pam friend, right? Just tells you like it is...give you a little bit of an attitude adjustment by making you look at things in a new way. A few years later, my kids were getting close to heading out on their own, and so I was struggling with balancing my commitments to ESA and spending time with them. I was on the ledge ready to jump, so to speak. Phyllis, sweet spunky Phyllis, helped me change my perspective a little bit, she said "Kathy, ESA will be still be here when your kids strike out on their own, so its ok to put family first right now, in fact, it's the Right thing to do" In 2009 I was at a point where I could start going to state functions. In talking with Shirley Telinde at Spring

Board, she asked me to be her State ESA Foundation Counselor. My first thought, "Other than my makeup, I don't even know what Foundation is" but I like Shirley, and I trusted she wouldn't lead me to far astray - so "sure". Well, becoming a member of Foundation opened a whole new world of ESA to me. I was fascinated to know that we gave away all these scholarships annually and I could be a part of it. To this day I continue to participate on the IC level as a scholarship coordinator. So why tell you these stories? I'm telling you this because (1) these 3 women are exceptional and they all played a part my journey here tonight and (2) these 3 simple conversations helped changed my perspective in looking at my present so that I could be inspired to change my future. Back to definitions, Webster's definition of to inspire is "to make, to give, to cause" as in "to make somebody want to do something, give somebody an idea, or cause something to happen". All three of those ladies inspired me because they helped make things happen in my life. ESA is all about inspiration. What an incredible organization we belong to where we can do all kinds of wonderful and unique things on a local level. We can do as much or as little as we want in our cities. But wait, not just the local level, the state and regional levels - Our Mountain of Towels is quite a statement made every year to the Easter Seals Camp. At the national level what we are able to do with the St Jude's Children's Hospital is absolutely astounding. In talking with Charlotte she gave me the cumulative total given from ESA through May 31, 2015...$208,481,968.29! WOW! And we don't even stop there - we are international! Think about that, all of us, with our unique "normal" childhoods, can come together, from all over the globe, and work together to get so much good done. Now, sometimes when we get in the middle of these projects and we get tired, or we lose sight of the end result, or we get caught up in little differences, we can become discouraged and feel like it might be easier to just get on the ledge and jump. That is when we need to adjust our perspective just a little to gain back the inspiration we had when we first got involved. I realize that life is not all sunshine and roses

Greetings Colorado Sisters!! I hope everyone has had a chance to sit back and smile when they think about all the fun we had at convention. The Zeta Rho ladies did such a Great Job!! Vickie did a fantastic job all year long but I do know that time and time again when I have just changed my perspective just a little, there has been a whole new world opened up that gives me the inspiration I need to go farther than I ever thought possible. Take a few minutes and think about people in this room that inspire you. I would challenge you to take time tonight to tell them how they inspire you, help them change their perspective and see how much they matter here. Inspired people inspire others. When it came time to decide what my theme for the year would be, it was thinking back on these three conversations, and what I want for our great organization that helped me. "Be Inspired" has radiated from the beginning on the inside of me since I began this adventure. When we are inspired we see colors a little brighter, laugh a little louder, maybe love a little deeper. Our burdens seem a little lighter when we are inspired with purpose. We just have to adjust our perspective sometimes. My philanthropic project, Hope for Heroes, is a natural marriage with this theme. All the groups we help inspire us with how they handle what they are facing and what they are overcoming. Most people don't choose what they are facing, but deal with what comes. One group is unique in this sense, they choose willingly to pit themselves up against difficult situations: The military. In today's world that seeks comfort and security, brave men and women step up every day and say "I choose to serve my country. I choose to make myself uncomfortable so others can enjoy comfort." Their perspective is outward-focused, and inspiring. To sign up for something even if it means giving up your life for it. So what motivates you? What makes you step up to the challenge? What makes you sit back and go, "Wow, that is incredible!" The moral of my stories then, because all good stories should have a moral, is this, If you can change your perspective; If you can focus on the good, and pass over the bad; If you can remember the common goal and forget the little differences; If you can see the purpose and avoid the distractions; Than you can be inspired, and you can be inspiring. If that is our focus, we will accomplish great things together.

and sure wrapped up her finale with a nice little bow. She was well organized and presided over a convention that will go down in my history book as a huge success. I would like to thank my Elected Board for being such good sports for the Skit on Friday night and for Charlotte to help us out with that. I would also like to thank my Gamma Chi sisters for the Red Noses they sported for me at installation. You ladies really know how to class things up!! The closer it gets to July the more I get excited about International Convention. I find it so ironic that I will be representing the state of Colorado at International Convention in my "little" town of Loveland. Thank you for electing me as your president this year. I am honored to represent Colorado in Colorado. We know everyone will fall in love with our wonderful state. I promise to give more details about IC in the upcoming issues of the Golden Lamp. Phyllis has done a great job of getting the Officer Change forms in. If you have not sent it yet please send it or email it to April was busy with the usual monthly activities at the local Community kitchen and bingo at the Silver Leaf Community. Even though we work hard we get to visit with the people at the two locations and chapter sisters. The noodle palace was busy for a day as we made more noodles to keep our supply going. For our social we had a brunch at our new pledges house Lisa Weeks. We brought various yummy foods for the brunch and of course ate more than we should have. Gamma Chi sisters celebrated at State Convention as our own Kathy E. was installed at President. It was a fun and very

Theta Eta Chapter completed another successful year of fundraising, philanthropic projects, educational programs and social activities. It is a satisfying feeling to know we have been of service to others. We are extremely grateful for the opportunities and ability to help those in need of assistance. In April, we picked up clothes from the Junior League and delivered them to the action center. Several Chapter members volunteered at the Beautiful Junk Sale which was held at the Jefferson County Fairgrounds to raise money for the Action Center. Also, three members delivered several boxes of new and gently used books to Kullerstrand Elementary School for distribution to students for

At convention I asked for ideas from our members for books to read. Please email me any book titles pkmcgee@outlook.com Also, go online and use Goodreads or Bookpage websites for ideas. On the Goodreads site you can keep track of the books you read or want to read. Have a great summer. I received 7 book suggestions. Here they are:

1. Team of Rivals, by Doris Kearns: About Lincoln and his cabinet. It was this capacity that enabled Lincoln as president to bring his disgruntled opponents together, create the most unusual cabinet in history, and marshal their talents to the task of preserving the Union and winning the war.

Phyllis or to me. I have the registration form here for Fall Board. I am also putting it on the Website. The dates are the 17th and 18th of September in Loveland at the Mountain View Presbyterian Church. More details on the form. I encourage everyone to try and attend Friday night and Saturday. We are planning some things on Friday night that you are not going to want to miss. Phyllis and I have been putting our heads together and you ladies know, what one of us doesn't think of the other one will! I hope everyone has a wonderful summer. Please reach out to me if I can help with anything. I encourage everyone to dare to gain a different perspective on even one thing. Remember Inspired People Inspire Others. special weekend. Thank you to Zeta Rho for a great time. We are supposed to relax in the summer, but no rest for the wicked. First week in June we'll have our installation and welcome Kerry Date as our new President. The rest of the summer we will be busy with Community Kitchen, Lake to Lake in Loveland (a triathlon), Lonetta McCormick's 60th wedding anniversary celebration, Wild West Relay, the sculpture garden at Benson Park, and IC in July. summer reading. We had 11 members attend Founder's Day on April 23, at Legacy Golf Club in Westminster. Our new slate of officers for 2016/2017 was elected in April and installed on May 1, at our Mother/Daughter Brunch at Pinehurst Country Club. Also in May we provided 24 hours of food to the Action Center's Homeless Shelter. We were also represented at the Action Center's Annual Fundraising Breakfast held at the Crossroads Church in Arvada. Seven of our members attended State Convention and two more members joined us for the banquet on Saturday evening. We wish you all a relaxing and enjoyable summer.

2. Dana Crawford, About 50 Years of Saving the Soul of a City, by Mike McPhee: All about how she helped revitalize Denver.

3. Devil in Pew Number 7, by Rebecca Nicholas Alonzo: True story. Rebecca never felt safe as a child. In 1969, her father, Robert Nichols, moved to Sellerstown, North Carolina, to serve as a pastor. There he found a small community eager to welcome him—with one exception. Glaring at him from pew number seven was a man obsessed with controlling the church.

4. The Fifth Gospel, by Ian Caldwell: When the papal police fail to identify a suspect in two crimes, Father Alex undertakes his own investigation. To find the killer he must reconstruct the dead curator's secret: what the four Christian gospels—and a little-known, true-to-life fifth gospel known as the Diatessaron—reveal about the Church's most controversial holy relic. But just as he begins to understand the truth about his friend's death, Father Alex finds himself hunted down by someone with vested stakes in the exhibit—someone he must outwit to survive

5. Obsession, by Nora Roberts: Naomi Bowes lost her innocence the night she followed her father into the woods. In freeing the girl trapped in the root cellar, Naomi revealed the horrible extent of her father's crimes and made him infamous. No matter how close she gets to happiness, she can't outrun the sins of Thomas David Bowes.

6. The Green Mile, by Stephen King: At Cold Mountain Penitentiary, along the lonely stretch of cells known as the Green Mile. Here guards as decent as Paul Edgecombe and as sadistic as Percy Wetmore watch over them. But good or evil, innocent or guilty, none have ever seen the brutal likes of the new prisoner, John Coffey, sentenced to death for raping and murdering two young girls. Is Coffey a devil in human form? Or is he a far, far different kind of being?

7. Thin Air, (A Shetland Island Mystery), by Ann Cleeves: A group of old university friends leave the bright lights of London and travel to Unst, Shetland's most northerly island, to celebrate the marriage of one of their friends to a Shetlander. But late on the night of the wedding party, one of them, Eleanor, disappears - apparently into thin air.
